About this document

Disability Employment Services (DES) helps people with disability find and keep jobs.

We are improving the way DES works.

This includes making sure that DES:

- works well to find jobs for people with disability
- supports more people to find and keep a job
- provides good quality services.

Quality is about good services that:

- meet the needs of people with disability
- give people with disability choice and control.

We made a framework to improve the quality of services that people get from DES.

A framework is a plan for how things should work.

It is called the DES Quality Framework.

In this document, we call it our Framework.

We talk about our Framework in more detail on the following pages.

What quality means in our Framework

DES providers deliver the services and supports that help people with disability find and keep jobs.

Our Framework includes 4 parts that explain what it means for DES providers to give quality supports.

1. People who use DES understand their rights

Rights are rules about how people must treat you:

- fairly
- equally.

This also means that people understand:

- what they must do
- how DES providers can support them.

2. DES providers understand how to support people with disability

This means that DES providers understand:

- the types of support different people need to achieve their work goals
- how to work with community services
- the jobs that people might be able to get in their local area
- what employers are looking for.

An employer is a person who hires other people to work for them.

3. DES providers do their job well

This means that DES providers:

- provide good quality services
- know how to manage risk
- are always trying to improve how they work
- have rules that make sure they work well.

4. DES providers follow the rules and laws, and manage feedback

This means that DES providers follow our rules and laws about how to:

- provide good quality services
- improve the quality of their services.

It also means that DES providers manage feedback from people who use their services.

When you give feedback, you tell someone what they:

- are doing well
- can do better.

The National Standards for Disability Services

These 4 parts are about quality and meeting the National Standards for Disability Services (NSDS).

Standards are rules about how to do things well.

You can:

- meet standards
- go above standards.

You can also not meet standards.

The NSDS is part of a law called the Disability Services Inclusion Act 2023.

This law explains the ways people must provide services to people with disability.

How we will check the quality of services people get

We will check the quality of services that all DES providers deliver to people with disability.

And we will give each DES provider a rating twice a year.

We will publish the rating each DES provider gets on our website.

There are 3 ratings that DES providers can get.

- 1. Their services are at a higher quality than we expect
- 2. Their services are at the quality we expect
- 3. Their services are not at the quality we expect, and the DES provider will need to improve

How we will choose the rating we give each DES provider

We will check different things when we choose the rating we give each DES provider.

We will check how well each DES provider understands and uses the NSDS:

- in their services
- in the way they improve their services.

Using the NSDS will be the main way we check the quality of services that DES providers deliver.

We will also use information we already have about each DES provider.

We will also use information from a form that DES providers fill out.

This form is about how well they understand what quality means.

Making our Framework better

We will continue to make our Framework better.

To do this, we will:

- work to hear more from employers and people who get services through DES
- improve how we do things, including how we use the information we have about DES.
