The Australian Government Department of Education, Employment and Workplace Relations (DEEWR) developed the RPL Assessment Toolkit for CHC30113 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care as part of the national Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) Initiative. It was based on good practice identified in the 2006–2009 Council of Australian Governments (COAG) RPL Program, including the RPL Assessment Tool Kit developed by the Western Australian Department of Training and Workforce Development under that program.

The RPL Assessment Toolkit for CHC30113 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care Candidate Guide is provided in the following five companion documents:

- Assessor Guide
- Candidate Guide
- Workplace Guide
- Forms and Templates
- Unit Mapping

This document is the Candidate Guide. It provides candidates with information to assist them to undertake RPL assessments for the CHC30113 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care.

RPL Assessment Toolkit for CHC30113 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care Candidate Guide

Introduction

Welcome

Welcome to the RPL Assessment Toolkit for CHC30113 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care Candidate Guide.

This resource is for you if you are working in early childhood education and care, and would like to have your skills and knowledge recognised against the qualification CHC30113 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care.

It's called the Candidate Guide because people undertaking Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) are called 'candidates'.

The RPL process requires you to be actively involved, participating in the required steps and undertaking assessment.

By reading this resource, you will get a better understanding of what this might involve.

What is this resource?

This resource summarises the qualification requirements and the RPL process, including how you can prepare for it.

Your assessor or a Registered Training Organisation (RTO) will have provided you with this resource.

It is important that you read through this resource before your first meeting with an assessor so you can prepare for that meeting. Also, keep it handy in case you need it later. If you have any questions, please ask your assessor or RTO representative.

What is RPL?

RPL (sometimes called 'Recognition') understands that you might have gained valuable skills in paid or unpaid work, and in activities such as informal training. For example, you might have supported children's wellbeing, learning and development, and followed regulations and approved learning frameworks, as an educator in an early childhood centre or in family day care.

In summary, RPL involves an assessor matching your skills and knowledge to the requirements of a nationally recognised qualification. If you already hold relevant skills and knowledge you might not have to complete all or part of a training program.

In addition, if you have gained skills and knowledge through formal education or training, or have other qualifications, other processes apply. Your assessor will also consider if these can be recognised towards the qualification.

Gaining workplace support

It's important that you discuss your RPL application with people in your workplace.

Your workplace will be asked to help you to participate in RPL, as described from Page 7 of this resource. For example, a workplace representative will be asked to verify your skills and knowledge, and to assist with workplace assessment and assessor visits.

The workplace representative needs to be someone who has observed your work and who holds higher qualifications—perhaps your employer or workplace supervisor.

Your assessor will give your workplace representative a Workplace Guide, and discuss how they can support your RPL participation.

Your workplace representative will also be asked to fill in a Workplace Representative Form, giving their details and declaring that the information they provide in verifying your skills is correct.

What is your assessor's role?

Your RPL assessor will support and guide you through the RPL process, and should go through this document with you to ensure you understand the RPL processes, and how to prepare for them.

Your assessor is required to assess whether or not you hold the required skills and knowledge, based on the requirements of the qualification and the evidence gathered in RPL processes.

Some terms you may need to understand

As the candidate, you don't really need to know requirements of the qualification or units of competency—that's your assessor's role.

However, RPL does require you to actively participate. This includes self-evaluating and discussing your skills and knowledge, and undertaking some workplace assessment tasks.

If you understand some basics, your RPL could be quicker and more effective.

Some relevant terms and concepts are explained below.

Qualifications: The CHC30113 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care is a nationally recognised qualification from the CHC Community Services Training Package.

Units of competency: Units of competency (or 'units') cover the workplace skills, knowledge and attitudes (competencies) people need to perform to the standard expected in the workplace.

Each unit has a code and title—for example, CHCECE007 Develop positive and respectful relationships with children. The title is a brief summary of the unit's coverage.

Units include 'elements', 'performance criteria', assessment requirements (including performance evidence—what you must demonstrate you can do and knowledge evidence—what you must demonstrate that you know) and the conditions for assessment.

Your assessor will ask you to self-evaluate and demonstrate your skills and knowledge based on common workplace tasks (that is, typical work activities, not the full text of the units). Therefore, you do not need to read the units of competency. However, if you wish to, you could view or download them from www.training.gov.au

Core and elective units: The Training Package lists the qualification requirements including the number of units required. These include core units (you must complete these) and elective units (you can choose these, usually from a wide range of units).

Competence, competent: To be awarded a qualification, you must demonstrate that you are competent in all required units of competency.

This means that you must be able to demonstrate that you currently hold the skills and knowledge in the units, and that you can perform tasks to the standard expected in the workplace.

RPL assessment: In RPL, a qualified assessor, on behalf of a Registered Training Organisation (RTO), will consider evidence of your competence in applying skills and knowledge you have gained through work and life experiences.

Because the target group for this RPL Toolkit is people working in early childhood education and care, workplace assessment of competence is possible and is required by some units.

Your assessor must make sure the assessment meets the principles of assessment—that is, your assessment must be valid, reliable, flexible and fair.

Evidence: Your assessor will consider evidence in assessing your competence—evidence can be gathered from workplace documents, discussions with you and others, demonstrations of workplace tasks, testimonials, third party reports and structured assessment tasks. Your assessor will discuss this with you.

Your assessor must be sure that the evidence meets the rules of evidence—that is, it must be valid (related to the unit), sufficient (enough to make a decision), current (show that you hold the skills now) and authentic (your own work).

Qualification and unit requirements

This section covers the qualification requirements and provides a brief summary of the units covered by this resource.

How many units are needed for the qualification?

You must be assessed as competent in a total of 18 units of competency—15 core and 3 electives—to be awarded the CHC30113 Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care.

Units in this resource

This section lists the units covered by this resource, and whether they are core or elective units.

Do I have to choose the electives in this resource?

You don't have to choose the electives listed in this resource.

Your assessor will help you choose electives. These could include units related to work you have done, compulsory units in your State or Territory, or units needed for higher qualifications.

Unit summaries

In this resource, the units are grouped into 'clusters' that cover similar workplace tasks—this clustering makes the assessment process more efficient. If you are reading this onscreen or in a coloured copy, you will see that the clusters are colour coded.

The same colours are used in other documents your assessor will give you, such as a form for you to use when evaluating your own skills and knowledge for the clusters of units.

The units are listed in the following tables, showing if they are core or elective and giving a short summary of each unit's content.

Cluster 1—Children's health and safety

CHCECE002 Ensure the health and safety of children (core unit)

This unit describes the skills and knowledge to ensure the health and safety of children.

CHCECE004 Promote and provide healthy food and drinks (core unit)

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to promote healthy eating and ensure that food and drinks provided are nutritious, appropriate for each child and prepared in a safe and hygienic manner.

HLTWHS001 Participate in work health and safety (core unit)

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required for workers to participate in safe work practices to ensure their own health and safety, and that of others.

Cluster 2—Workplace effectiveness*CHCCS400C Work within a relevant legal and ethical framework (core unit)

This unit describes the knowledge and skills required to work within a legal and ethical framework that supports duty of care requirements.

CHCPRT001 Identify and respond to children and young people at risk (core unit)

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to support and protect children and young people who are at risk of harm. This work occurs within legislative and policy frameworks and carries a duty of care responsibility.

CHCECE009 Use an approved learning framework to guide practice (core)

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to enable educators to provide children with opportunities to maximise their potential and develop a foundation for future success.

CHCORG303C Participate effectively in the work environment (elective)

This unit describes the knowledge and skills required to work effectively as an individual and in work groups to contribute to achievement of organisation objectives.

Cluster 3—Play and development*CHCECE010 Support the holistic development of children in early childhood (core unit)

This unit describes the skills and knowledge to support and recognise the interrelationship between the physical, social, emotional, cognitive and communication development of children from birth to 6 years of age.

CHCECE007 Develop positive and respectful relationships with children (core unit)

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required by educators working with children to ensure they can develop and maintain effective relationships and promote positive behaviour.

CHCECE011 Provide experiences to support children's play and learning (core unit)

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to support children's play and learning.

CHCECE013 Use information about children to inform practice (core unit)

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to gather information about children through observation and other sources as a basis to inform program-planning cycles and to share with children and their families.

Cluster 3—Play and development (continued)

CHCECE006 Support behaviour of children and young people (elective unit)

This unit describes the skills and knowledge to apply strategies to guide responsible behaviour of children and young people in a safe and supportive environment.

Cluster 4—Physical and emotional wellbeing

CHCECE003 Provide care for children (core unit)

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to ensure children's physical and emotional wellbeing is maintained and their self-sufficiency is nurtured.

CHCECE005 Provide care for babies and toddlers (core unit)

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required by educators working with babies and toddlers [birth to 24 months] to ensure that the children's physical and emotional wellbeing is maintained.

Note: The core unit HLTAID004 Provide an emergency first aid response in an education and care setting is not provided for in this resource. Your assessor will discuss requirements for this unit with you. You may already hold the unit or its equivalent, for example if you needed it to be employed. If so, your assessor will ask you for evidence such as a Statement of Attainment. If you do not hold the unit, you may need to undertake training and assessment.

Cluster 5—Culture and community

CHCECE001 Develop cultural competence (core unit)

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to work towards cultural competency and to support participation of all children and families in children's services. This support includes contributing to children's understanding and acceptance of all cultures.

HLTHIR404D Work effectively with Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander people (core unit)

This unit describes the communication and work practice skills and knowledge required to work with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people in the health industry context.

HLTHIR403C Work effectively with culturally diverse clients and co-workers (elective unit)

This unit deals with the cultural awareness required for effective communication and cooperation with persons of diverse cultures.

Please remember... your assessor will ask you to discuss and demonstrate your skills and knowledge based on typical workplace tasks related to the above units of competency. Therefore, you do not really need to read the full content of the units. However, if you wish to do so, ask your assessor, or you could view or download the units from the website www.training.gov.au

Summary of RPL-related processes

This section includes tables with summary information on:

- RPL application and preparation
- Summary of steps in the RPL assessment process
- RTO processes for awarding certificates.

You may find this useful as a reference to go back to during the RPL process.

Or, if you are still deciding whether or not to participate in RPL, it could help you to make that decision.

Please remember... if you are unsure of any requirements, check with your assessor.

RPL enquiry and application

When you contact a Registered Training Organisation (RTO) to ask about RPL, they should give you information on matters such as RPL processes, fees and charges, and any conditions of enrolment.

You should be given this information before you enrol.

It's a good idea to compare information from more than one RTO, and choose the one that best suits your needs and circumstances.

The following table summarises what could happen after you apply to participate in RPL and your application is accepted. Please read the column 'Candidate's responsibilities' (in bold) so you know what might be expected of you.

| Enquiry and application  | RTO's responsibilities  | Candidate's responsibilities   | Workplace responsibilities  |
|--|---|--|---|
| Prospective RPL candidate makes an enquiry and applies to participate in RPL If accepted, the candidate completes a Candidate Information Form to assist in Step 1 of the RPL process | Provide person enquiring with information about RPL. If they wish to apply, provide the Candidate Information Form, Candidate Guide and any other RTO-required forms Follow the RTO's procedures such as processing application, advising applicant, and providing the RTO's qualified RPL assessor with the candidate information | Read the RTO-provided information and complete any application forms or processes Complete the Candidate Information Form and attach CV and any other workplace information as suggested on the form, and return it the RTO Go through the Candidate Guide (this document) to prepare yourself for Step 1 of the process—the initial interview | Workplace representatives could support employees in their application to participate in RPL, such as assisting them to make the first contact with an RTO, and assisting them to complete application forms |

Summary of steps in the RPL assessment process

The following pages summarise steps in the RPL assessment process. The steps are more fully explained in the next section of this resource, with ideas to help you to prepare for RPL.

As with the previous table, please make sure you read the column outlining your likely responsibilities, noting that you will need to prepare for Step 1 before your first meeting with your assessor.

| RPL assessment step   | Assessor’s responsibilities  | Candidate’s responsibilities   | Workplace responsibilities   |

RTO processes for awarding certificates

If you are assessed as 'Competent' in all units required for the qualification, the RTO will award you the qualification.

If you do not meet the requirements for the qualification—for example, if you are assessed as 'Not yet Competent' in some units or do not seek RPL for all the required units—the RTO will give you a Statement of Attainment listing any units you have attained.

If you do not gain the full qualification or particular units, your assessor or another person at the RTO should discuss options with you. These may include undertaking a training program for any remaining units of competency.

Steps in the RPL process

This section gives you more detailed information on the steps in the RPL process—it will help you to prepare for RPL. Some of the steps have boxes you might like to tick off when they are done.

Before Step 1

- The RTO should give you information about the RTO and the RPL processes
- Complete any RTO-required forms such as the Candidate Information Form
- Have a look through this Candidate Guide

Step 1: Initial interview followed by self-evaluation

How can I prepare for the initial interview?

After you are accepted to participate in RPL, the initial interview is the first step in the process.

At the interview, your assessor will begin to gather evidence, and will plan for the next steps by developing an RPL Assessment Plan.

Being prepared can save you valuable time, and help to make your RPL as effective as possible.

The following list gives tips on things you might like to do to prepare for the initial interview.

- Consider your relevant experiences: Go to the unit summary from Page 4 above, and consider how you do the tasks
- Make brief notes about your relevant work roles and experiences: This will help when you talk with your assessor
- Collect relevant documents: Think about and collect any documents you have at work or home that show your experience, and take them to the interview—for example:
  - brief Resume or Curriculum Vitae (CV)
  - your position description
  - photos of you at work, or your work examples
  - workplace training or professional development records
  - membership of associations, networks or clubs
  - references, letters, or emails from workplace or clients
  - workplace documents you have added to, or written
  - workplace, industry or other awards
  - records of hobbies, interests or skills outside work

However, don't be put off if you don't have these—your assessor will help you to identify possible evidence later

Please remember: Workplace and client information is likely to be confidential—make sure your workplace agrees you can use any workplace documents, and delete identifying information

- Collect any evidence of formal training: If you have a qualification, Statement of Attainment, or training attendance records, collect these so you can take them to the interview
- Consider referees: Think about people who have seen your work, ask if they would be willing to confirm your skills and knowledge, and if so, get their correct contact details
- Mark any parts of this Candidate Guide that are not clear: Then, at the interview, you can ask your assessor to explain

What is likely to happen in the interview?

In the initial interview, your assessor will usually:

1. introduce themselves and the RPL processes, and check that you understand what is required
2. discuss the units required for the qualification, helping you to choose suitable electives
3. ask you general questions about your work history and other relevant experiences related to your work in Children's Services
4. look at any documents you bring
5. give you the Candidate Self-evaluation Tools (for you to complete after the interview) making sure you understand how to do this, and discussing any evidence you might collect
6. advise you that a workplace representative needs to complete parts of the Candidate Self-evaluation Tools, and giving you the Workplace Representative Form for them to also complete
7. develop the first draft of an RPL Assessment Plan with you, setting out the expected processes and dates.

What do I need to do after the interview?

After the initial interview, you need to:

- Complete the Candidate Self-evaluation Tools: Follow the instructions on the tools, complete them to the best of your ability, and label and attach any supporting evidence
- Ask the workplace representative to fill in the *Workplace Representative Form
- Ask the workplace representative to add to your completed Candidate Self-evaluation Tools: The sections for workplace representatives to complete are marked on the tools
- Make and keep copies: You should keep copies of your completed Candidate Self-evaluation Tools and any attached documents for your own records (this is very important)
- Return forms: Return the completed tools and documents to your assessor by the date agreed in your RPL Assessment Plan

*What will the assessor do after I return my Candidate Self-evaluation Tools?*

Your assessor will:

1. consider the evidence you provided in the initial interview, information on your completed Candidate Self-evaluation Tools, and evidence in any other documents you provided
2. arrange with you to conduct Step 2, the 'competency conversations' advising you which unit clusters will be covered.

Step 2: Competency conversations

In this step, your assessor will involve you in what are called 'competency conversation' interviews.

What are 'competency conversations'?

The interview is given that name because, while it is an assessment process, it is also meant to be a conversation or discussion.

In the competency conversation interview, your assessor will:

1. ask you questions and give you scenarios to respond to that are related to workplace tasks and units of competency
2. encourage you to discuss examples of your work, and the principles, knowledge and theories that guide you in that work
3. make brief notes recording your responses and the examples you provide
4. if appropriate, ask you if you can find relevant documents or other evidence in the workplace.

The process is used to confirm and explore the skills and knowledge you listed in your Candidate Self-evaluation Tools.

It gives you an opportunity to discuss your relevant workplace experiences with your assessor. Usually, you will have more than one competency conversation interview.

How can I prepare for the competency conversation?

Your assessor will tell you which cluster of units will be considered, and you will both need to agree to the time and location of each competency conversation. These details should be recorded in your RPL Assessment Plan.

You could prepare for your competency conversations by:

- Looking back at workplace tasks in your completed Candidate Self-evaluation Tools for the cluster of units to be covered
- Looking at the unit summaries from Page 4 above, and thinking about how you apply skills and knowledge at work (or, if you wish, going to the full unit content at www.training.gov.au)
- Making brief notes you could refer to during the conversation

What is likely to happen in the competency conversation?

During the competency conversation interview, your assessor will ask you questions about workplace activities, prompting you to discuss your skills and knowledge. Please remember...

- the questions are discussion starters to help your assessor identify your current knowledge and relevant experience
- when responding to a question, try to think about what you do in the workplace, including the principles that guide your work

For example, a task you do at work could require knowledge of children's development—if so, tell your assessor how the work you do relates to the principles of children's development and give examples of how you apply that knowledge at work

- if something is not clear, ask your assessor to explain it

In doing this, you are also demonstrating your communication style, and your ability to seek clarification

- If you find you can't respond to a question, you may ask your assessor to come back to it later.

What will the assessor do after the competency conversation?

Your assessor will consider the evidence you provided in the competency conversation processes. If this shows you are competent in a unit, your assessor will advise you.

Your assessor will then decide on the next step: workplace assessment task or tasks.

Step 3: Workplace assessment tasks

Your assessor may ask you to undertake one or more workplace assessment tasks. This is your opportunity to demonstrate your competence in a practical way at work.

Before the task:

- Your assessor will advise you which task or tasks are required, agree a date and venue, and add details to your RPL Assessment Plan
- Your assessor will organise with your workplace to conduct the assessment task there, or at another suitable location
- Your assessor will give you a document called Workplace Assessment Tasks: Instructions for the Candidate setting out the requirements for the tasks, and listing the units involved

On the agreed date, your assessor will observe you in the workplace undertaking the assessment task.

Your assessor will consider your performance of the tasks and advise you on any further steps that are required.

Step 4: Third party reporting

Your assessor might need to confirm a particular aspect of your workplace performance. If so, they could ask a person in your workplace to complete a Third Party Report on that aspect. Your assessor will then consider the evidence provided.

Development activities during the RPL process

Your assessor might suggest workplace activities during the RPL process. These might include small developmental activities—but not usually participation in formal training programs.

For example, your assessor could decide that you did not demonstrate knowledge of the principles underpinning your work, or current policies. If so, your assessor could suggest you go to a session on these, or read some resources. Your assessor could then check later that you can apply that knowledge at work. If activities such as this are agreed during the RPL process, your assessor will add the details to your RPL Assessment Plan.

Step 5: Finalising the RPL documentation

After the RPL process is finished, your assessor will advise you of the outcomes, and ask you to sign a form detailing these.

- If you are assessed as 'Competent' for all the units required for the qualification, the RTO will issue you with the qualification.
- If you are assessed as 'Not yet Competent' in some of the units required for the qualification, the RTO will issue you with a Statement of Attainment listing the units attained. In that case, your assessor should advise you on your options: these could include attending formal training and being reassessed.

Best wishes on your RPL journey...
